CHELSEA GARDEN FESTIVE AFTERNOON TEA AT 11 CADOGAN GARDENS

A Heritage Experience in the Heart of Chelsea

In the 1840s, Anna, the 7th Duchess of Bedford, introduced what became one of Britain's most enduring rituals: afternoon tea. What began as a simple remedy for a late-afternoon lull soon blossomed into a graceful custom of pause, indulgence, and connection.

At 11 Cadogan Gardens, a distinguished townhouse built in the 1890s on the historic Cadogan Estate, we continue this tradition with a sense of place uniquely our own. Inspired by Chelsea's gardens, our afternoon tea celebrates British heritage through floral and botanical touches found in both the setting and the menu.

Chelsea has long been defined by its gardens, from tranquil squares and the world renowned Chelsea Flower Show to the centuries-old Chelsea Physic Garden. A sanctuary for botanists, artists, and thinkers, it remains a place where nature and creativity intertwine.

By anchoring our tea in the theme of The Chelsea Garden, we honour this cultural and horticultural legacy. It is our way of bringing the outdoors in, celebrating the seasons, the quiet charm of an English garden, and the enduring joy of gathering together over tea.

Here, in the heart of Chelsea, afternoon tea is more than a meal. It's a moment of reflection, connection, and timeless ritual, lovingly re-imagined for today.
